Swimmers in Winter | Faye Guenther

Sharp and stylistic, the trifecta of diptychs that is Swimmers in Winter swirls between real and imagined pasts and futures to delve into our present cultural moment: conflicts between queer people and the police; the impact of homophobia, bullying, and PTSD; the dynamics of women's friendships; life for queer women in Toronto during WW II and after; the intersections between class identities and queer identities; experiences of economic precarity and precarious living conditions; the work of being an artist; dystopian worlds; and the impact of gentrification on public space. These are soul-searching, plot-driven character studies equally influenced by James Baldwin, Christopher Isherwood, and Elena Ferrante.

Faye Guenther lives in Toronto where she works as a college professor. She holds a PhD in English from York University.

County Heirlooms: Recipes & Reflections

Stories and recipes from chefs, farmers, and other food producers who are making their mark in Prince Edward County.

A cookbook with local flavour, County Heirlooms offers a glimpse into what fuels each contributor's love for food and what keeps them doing what they do—from cultivating honeybees and growing heirloom tomatoes to cooking for crowds.

Edited by Natalie Wollenberg and Leigh Nash, County Heirlooms is equal parts memoir, cookbook, scrapbook, and fundraiser — royalties from book sales support Food to Share, a program addressing food insecurity in PEC.
